Steel Board Holds Its First Meeting

Public Hearings Are to Be Held July 28 in New York

Washington, July 18 (AP)—The fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute organized today and announced it will open public hearings July 28 in New York.

The organization meeting was held at the White House.

Chairman Carroll Daugherty said the decision to delay hearings until July 28 would give both sides ample time to prepare their evidence for the board's consideration.

The board will meet two days earlier in New York with representatives of the steel industry and of the C.I.O. United Steelworkers to "arrange for procedural matters."

The chairman said that this morning's discussion had to do with organization of the committee and other matters of business. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Leaders Are Named For Five City Areas

Three Area Heads and Block Workers Needed for Survey

Five additional area leaders have been selected for the immunization survey which will begin in Kingston August 1 to determine how many pre-school age children have been protected against diphtheria, small-pox and whooping cough. There are only three areas which still have not been organized, they are areas 2, 11 and 6. In those areas a leader as well as block leaders are needed.

Anyone who is willing to serve may call Mrs. Reynolds Van Kuren.

In Area 2, the leader is Miss Gloria Molyneux of 280 Clinton avenue.

Area 5, Mrs. Joseph Nerone of 42 Ahrayn street.

Area 8, Mrs. Lorraine Longendyke of 219 East Chester street.

Area 10, Mrs. Edwin Myers of 1 Center street.

Area 7, Mrs. Harry Kingsbury of 83 West Union street and Mrs. Jacob Schneider of 75 West Union street, co-leaders.

Beginning on July 25 there will be briefing meetings held at the city laboratory at which time the area leaders, block leaders and workers will be instructed in the details of the survey. The actual survey will get under way on August 1 and it is expected to be completed August 12. Workers will not have more than 10 cards, and in most cases there will be less than 10 homes to visit during the survey.

New York Mayor Looks Favorably on Cooper as Nominee for Post of President

Big Fight Ahead

Campaign Has Earmark of Being Waged With Fervor

New York, July 18 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer was reported today as flatly opposed to the re-nomination of Tammany Leader Hugo E. Rogers as borough president of Manhattan.

At the same time, it was learned from an administration source, O'Dwyer views with favor a movement to persuade Special Sessions Justice Irving Ben Cooper to seek the Democratic nomination for Rogers' post. The election is next November.

Sources close to the mayor said he has no personal quarrel with Rogers. But, they said, O'Dwyer feels that Rogers' Tammany leadership and associations make it necessary to replace him with an independent Democrat not connected with the elements now in control of Tammany Hall.

O'Dwyer announced his candidacy for reelection last week after first saying he would not run again.

Cooper presently is vacationing in Canada. An independent Democrat, he figured prominently in anti-Tammany probes conducted from 1928 to 1937.

O'Dwyer recently named him for a second 10-year term on the Special Sessions bench. The re-appointment of the 47-year-old judge was regarded as a slap at Tammany Hall.

The mayor's reportedly favorable attitude toward the candidacy of Cooper was regarded in political circles as tacit confirmation of reports he intends to wage a strong campaign to eliminate Tammany as a controlling factor in New York county Democratic politics.

Reports circulated that Rep. Vito Marcantonio, head of the American Labor party, would be designated his party's candidate against election and former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace would be named senatorial candidate. The A.L.P. designating committee meets tonight.

Marcantonio has said several times he would make the race if O'Dwyer sought reelection.

Newbold Morris, former city council president, has been nominated to make the race on a Republican-Liberal coalition ticket.

Meanwhile, a group of New York businessmen said it will ask permission to form a new party—the independent voters and labor party—to support O'Dwyer for reelection.

The organization said it will file today for official permission in order to get an additional line on the ballot in this fall's city elections.

O'Dwyer, after saying "no" for two months, reversed himself last week and said he would run. (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

Derwent Gets Quiz in New York

Actor Denies Affiliation With Communists; Is Paroled

New York, July 18—Clarence Derwent, British-born president of Actors Equity Association, was questioned for six hours yesterday by U. S. immigration officials, who he said asked him about possible Communist affiliations.

The noted actor and producer, who had arrived by plane from a European tour sponsored by the U. S. State Department, was paroled in custody of his attorney.

The 65-year-old actor said he told his questioners that "I am not a Communist, never have been, and have no Communist affiliations whatsoever."

Derwent said his record has been "examined year after year" and that "possibly someone thinks I am a Communist."

"The whole thing is so mysterious," he said. "I really don't know what is behind this whole thing. I can think of no reason for this. I am completely in the dark."

No official explanation for Derwent's examination at La Guardia Field was issued here. But in Washington a Justice Department spokesman said it was a "routine detention."

The spokesman said Derwent was detained because immigration officials "had reasons to detain him." Calling the situation normal, the spokesman said immigration officials might hold a hearing on the case later.

Derwent, who began his theatrical career in 1902, has lived in the United States for about 25 years, but still is a British subject.

Derwent has appeared at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Robinson Refutes Robeson's Charge

Brooklyn Infielder Says
Negro Americans Will Fight All Enemies

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Washington, July 18 (AP)—Jackie Robinson said today that if singer Paul Robeson "wants to sound silly" in public, "that's his business."

The Brooklyn Dodgers' slender second baseman, first Negro to break into the major leagues, told the House Un-American Activities Committee that Negro Americans would fight for this country "against Russia or any other enemy."

"He was the last witness called by the committee to refute a recent statement by Robeson, once a famous athlete himself, that Negroes in the United States would not fight in a war against Russia."

The committee's small hearing room was packed when Robinson and his attractive wife arrived, and a loud "amen" came from somewhere in the crowd when he finished reading a long prepared statement.

The baseball star said he never has had time to become an expert on anything "except base stealing or something like that," but that he appeared out of a sense of responsibility. He said there has been "a terrible lot of misunderstanding" about Communist influence among Negroes.

"And it is bound to hurt my people's cause unless it's cleared up," Robinson said any Negro "worth his salt" is going to resent "any kind of slurs and discrimination" because of his race.

"This has got absolutely nothing to do with what Communists may or may not be trying to do," he declared. "And white people must realize that the more a Negro hates Communism because it opposes democracy, the more he is going to hate any other influence that kills off democracy in this country."

"Negroes were stirred up long before there was a Communist party, and they'll stay stirred up long after the party has disappeared—unless Jim Crow has disappeared with them as well."

"Sounds Silly"
Robinson said he had no comment to make on Robeson's statement that Negro Americans would (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Was Walking on Road With Woman at Time; Coroner Summoned

Saturday evening as Jack Kaplan of 1 Clifford street, Ellenville, was leaving the Boxer Hotel about a half mile south of the New Terrace Room for his home in Ellenville, coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerkonkson, Town of Wawarsing, injured Joseph Morton Blacker, 22, of 589 Hopkinson avenue, Brooklyn, a guest of the hotel who with Miss Rose Zelenetz, a governess at the Boxer Hotel, were on their way to the New Terrace Room for a soda.

Blacker died 10 minutes after being admitted to the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, where he was taken by a pick-up truck which came along shortly after the accident. The Ellenville ambulance was summoned but the injured man had been moved before arrival of the ambulance.

Kaplan, who operates a taxi business in Ellenville, is a brother-in-law of Max Boxer, proprietor of Boxer Hotel.

The accident happened about 10:25 o'clock as Kaplan was driving north toward Ellenville and the two pedestrians were also walking north.

Blacker was spending the weekend at the hotel visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blacker, and his sister who was also staying at the Boxer Hotel.

On arrival at the hospital Dr. O. Roberts was at the hospital and was joined shortly after by Dr. Henry Weiss of Ellenville, who had been summoned. They rendered medical assistance but Blacker died about 10 minutes after being admitted to the hospital. (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

City Republicans To Pick Nominees At Court House

This evening at 8 o'clock the Republican city convention will be held at the court house at which time a candidate for mayor will be designated, a candidate for alderman-at-large and a candidate for city judge.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk probably will get the designation to succeed himself as the Republican party standard bearer and City Judge Raymond Mino will undoubtedly be the choice of the convention for city judge.

In the alderman-at-large position, it is understood that Alderman-at-Large Charles J. Turck has declined to again be a candidate because of the press of personal business. Who will be the party designation apparently is undecided at this time.

Over Turck stands by his present decision not to run again, the convention will probably find it necessary to make a selection from names presented from the floor.

Army Contract Handling Still Is Under Capital Probe

Washington, July 18 (AP)—An investigation of army contract handling was still underway today. It has led thus far to the suspension of two major generals and a Congressman's demand that President Truman send his military aide to the sidelines.

The inspector general's office has orders from Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray to continue its probe of Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general, and Aiden H. Walcott, Chief of the Chemical Corps.

Both were relieved of duty Saturday after a Senate investigating committee produced evidence which Gray said indicated they exhibited "a lack of judgment and sense of propriety."

On the heels of this development Rep. Shafer (R-Mich.) demanded that the President suspend Maj. Gen. Henry H. Vaughn, White House aide.

Cashin and Bruhn, Groves, Chipp Named at Session

After speeches by leading Ulster Republicans including Congressman Jay LeFevre of New Paltz, the party nominated candidates for county offices at the unofficial convention in the municipal auditorium, Saturday morning.

Despite high temperatures, the convention drew many from all sections of the county, besides the delegates representing the various districts who reported to cast their votes for G.O.P. choices.

The assemblage was welcomed by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, state Senate majority leader, and chairman of the Ulster county Republican party, whose speech recommending the return to free American enterprise and less power for the federal government was printed in The Freeman Saturday with that of Cluett Schantz, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, who outlined the services to the public given by the Republican administration and stressed that the county was free of debt because of the G.O.P. pay-as-you-go policy.

Candidates chosen unanimously, without any opposition were: County Judge—John M. Cashin of Kingston.

District Attorney—Louis G. Bruhn, Kingston.

County Treasurer—John T. Groves, Port Jervis, supervisor of the Town of Saopus for two terms.

Coroner—Arthur C. Chipp of Kerkonkson, Town of Wawarsing.

All candidates except Groves at present occupy the offices for which they were nominated.

Exhibits Are Arranged to Show State's Part in U. S. Growth

The six-car Freedom Train, carrying 80 of the most priceless historic documents showing the foundations and growth of New York state liberty, will be in Kingston Tuesday and Wednesday, August 16 and 17, through the courtesy of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Arrangements are being made to spot the train for its two-day stay on Greenkill avenue, so that it will be in easy access to the public. Hours of exhibition will be from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. both days.

Purpose of the New York State Freedom Train is to stimulate interest in the meaning of freedom, in the cost of freedom and in the part New York has played in the struggle for freedom.

Sponsors of the train are the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, New York State Publishers' Association and the State Freedom Commission.

Three Exhibit Cars
The six cars are painted a royal blue and are comprised of the power car, passenger-baggage car, personnel car and three exhibit cars. The exhibits are:

Car 1—Freedom of Expression—Religion, press and speech, representative government, labor.

Car 2—Liberty under Law—Personal liberty, suffrage and property rights, military security, our federal constitution.

Car 3—Freedom of Self-Development—Mobility, education, science and State service.

The New York State Freedom Train is a local train that is carrying some of New York's own documents of freedom throughout the state in order to stimulate interest in the meaning of freedom, in the cost of freedom, and in the part New York has played in the struggle for freedom.

Besides the display of New York's own historical papers, there are some of Washington's and Lincoln's which are in the custody of the New York State Library.

Our state has played a proud part in the history of freedom. The liberal minded Dutch were the first white settlers. They began the struggle for religious, political and economic freedom.

Some of the documents on the Freedom Train record the attempts they made and something of the gains. Freedom of religion and freedom of the press are their most outstanding achievements. Upon those foundations the later comers—freedom-loving folk from England, Ireland, France, Sweden, Germany, and the other European countries—reared a mighty structure of freedom. They were people with the courage of their convictions. The written remonstrances and protests of the early Dutch and English against tyrannical governors resulted in the growth of popular government. The petitions and declarations of the later days helped to promote that growth.

Outstanding for Minorities
The way in which New York as a colony and as a state has welcomed and incorporated many minority groups makes her outstanding in the practice of freedom. A decent respect for the dignity of the individual and for the will of the majority has created an atmosphere which, broadened and warmed through education, has resulted in continuous extension of disciplined liberty. Individual inspiration, combined with rare opportunities, has resulted in a long list of eminent names known far beyond the borders of this state—names of artists and writers, teachers and preachers, doctors and lawyers and judges, inventors and business men, labor leaders, printers and publishers, politicians and statesmen. Many of New York's political leaders (Continued on Page 12, Col. 2)

WISHFUL THINKING

I wish that people everywhere
Would live the way I feel is right
I wish the world was always fair
And less concerned with money and gain
I'd like to see our laws obeyed
And prison bars no longer known
This change would mean tremendous aid
In planning friendship's cornerstone
I wish that every distressed life
Might yield to scientific men
And having met the hand of skill
A healthy world would smile again
If winter's bite could be erased
And just a little snow should fall
The bitter months could well be faced
And be enjoyed by one and all
My wishful thinking doesn't count
And never will it change a thing
But this I know, my friends
Unless our hearts refuse to ring

Steel Board Holds

An executive secretary will be appointed later. The place of the hearings in New York City has yet to be designated. The board broke up its meeting after about 45 minutes. As they did so, the White House made public a letter from Samuel I. Rosenman, one of its members, and a former special counsel to President Truman.

Rosenman wanted it to be made a matter of record that his New York City law firm is counsel to the Rotary Electric Steel Company of Detroit. One of his law partners is a director of the company which has a contract with a local of the C. I. O. Union. Rosenman said he had brought this to the attention of Cyrus Ching, federal mediator and consultation director, when he was asked to serve on the board. "Mr. Ching stated that, in his opinion, those facts did not in any way constitute a disqualification," Rosenman's letter to the President said. "I nevertheless, requested him to bring them to your attention before you made the appointment, and he stated that he would."

"I am informed that these facts have been brought to your attention, and you still desire that I shall be glad to render whatever service I can in this very important industrial controversy."

The three board members met with Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman to discuss such things as a schedule of hearings.

Robinson Refutes

not fight Russia, except that "it sounds very silly to me." And, he added, if Robeson "wants to sound silly" in public statements "that's his business and not mine."

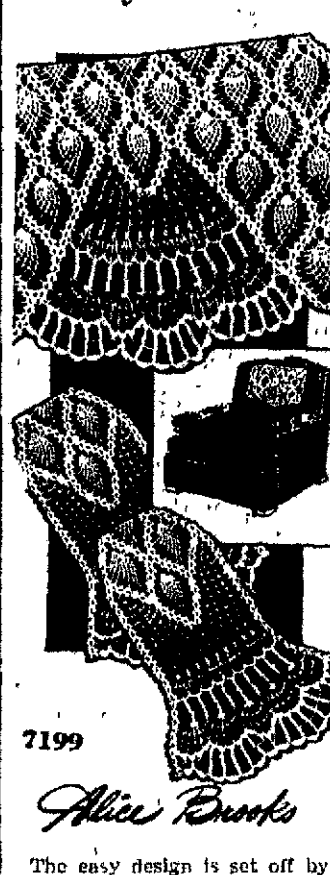

In case of war, Robinson said, Negroes would "do their best to help their country win the war" the same as "Germans and Irish and Jews and Swedes and Slavs and other Americans."

"No one has ever questioned my race's loyalty except a few people who don't amount to very much," he said.

Robinson said Negroes "and other Americans of many races and faiths" have too much invested in the United States "for any of us to throw it away because of a siren song sung in basins."

"We can win our fight without the Communists," he said, "and we don't want their help."

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Age Is Lowered

The Boy Scouts of America organization has lowered the entrance age for its three programs of Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Senior Scout, effective next September 1. George B. Matthews, president of Ulster-Greene Council, stated today. The local executive board has taken steps to receive into membership hundreds of new boys who will become eligible on September 1. President Matthews said that the National Executive Board made the decision to change after a three years' study during which opinions were obtained from experienced leaders, parents, educators and many others over the country who are concerned with youth work.

Boys will become eligible for Cub Scout membership at eight years of age instead of nine; Boy Scouts at 11 instead of 12 and Explorers at 14 instead of 15 years of age.

The program known as Senior Scouting, Matthews announced, will become "Exploring" with its scope broad enough to include land, sea and air activities as well as life exploration. Units specializing in seamanship or in aviation will be known as explorer ships or explorer squadrons, respectively.

At a dinner meeting at Camp Tamm on August 4 details of the change were explained to the unit leaders and commissioners of the council. These changes are important and there are so many technicalities in registration procedures to be ironed out that the council leaders will encounter many problems in the next year. Scout Commissioner Val Morrow of Maplecrest will preside at the meeting and will attend to the unit leaders on his attendance at the annual meeting of the National Council in Boston. He participated in several conference sessions concerning the changes and will bring to Ulster-Greene scouts a first-hand report.

Mrs. Runne was playing with a dog on the lot and backed into the path of a car operated by Michael Cavello, 22, of 132 Williams street, Newburgh. There was no arrest.

Kansas Will Sell Liquor This Week; First in 70 Years

Topeka, Kas., July 18 (A. P.)—Liquor will go on sale 1-e-g-a-l-l-y in Kansas this week.

It will mark the end of an era of colorful crusading and a multi-million dollar bootlegging business in this long-time, stronghold of prohibition.

For almost 70 years the sale of liquor has been banned in Kansas by the state constitution. And for 32 years the state bone dry law made possession of so much as a thimbleful of liquor punishable by a jail sentence.

But, last November Kansas voted 422,294 to 358,310 to repeal prohibition.

After a two months' struggle, mainly to retain local option, the Legislature passed a liquor control act. It wiped the bone dry law from the statute books. Then followed four months of feverish work to establish a control and licensing setup.

Late today, the State Liquor Control Office will mail out licenses for more than 200 privately owned stores to retail liquor or high per cent beer. Saloons and public drinking are barred.

Cities which voted against repeal of prohibition will remain dry unless they decide in a special election to reverse their stand. Thus far, more than 250 of the state's 597 incorporated cities may have liquor stores. Only ten of 105 counties do not have a "wet" city.

Among the "dry" cities is Medicine Lodge where Carry Nation, militant Women's Christian Temperance Union crusader, launched her hatchet swinging attacks on the illegal saloons of a half century ago.

Kansas' desertion of prohibition leaves liquor illegal only in Oklahoma and Mississippi.

But, with a strong and militant dry minority pledging to carry on the fight, the liquor question will remain a lively issue in Kansas for years to come.

St. Francis of Assisi established the custom of ringing the Angelus.

Economy is Also a Cadillac Word!

OVER THE YEARS, there has come into being what amounts virtually to a Cadillac vocabulary.

There are literally scores of words which, when applied to automobiles, call Cadillac almost instantly to mind.

Few can hear such words as "Character," "Prestige," "Quality," "Craftsmanship," "Precision," "Distinction"—and a host of others—without associating them with Cadillac.

But there is one potent word which applies with equal emphasis to Cadillac—but which motorists, in the past, have not so readily associated with the car.

That word is Economy.

With its marvelously efficient new high-compression engine, the 1949 Cadillac delivers gasoline mileage which actually approaches that of the popular low-priced cars. It is almost unbelievable for a car so large and luxurious.

And, of course, Cadillac dependability and long life have become traditional in the automotive industry. In fact, the full life-span of a Cadillac has never been accurately measured.

Yes, "Economy" is also a Cadillac word and belongs in the Cadillac vocabulary.

Have you inspected and driven a 1949 Cadillac? If not, you owe it to yourself to do so—for it is truly a revelation in what a motor car can be and do.

You are most welcome to visit our showrooms at any time.

THE GOOD BOOK

According to figures compiled by the American Bible Society, twenty-five million copies of the Bible are distributed annually by this and other agencies. The well-known fact that it is the world's best-selling book does not include appreciation of the vast number of copies which are distributed as gifts.

A request which will raise this year's quota is that of General Douglas A. MacArthur, who has asked that Bibles be sent to the residents of every village and hamlet in Japan. A new record is expected to be set this year for Bible publication in China, as the Society's effort toward defense against communism in China.

General MacArthur's motive in asking for a wide distribution of Bibles in Japan has not been made public, but it is safe to assume that he expects its influence to be salutary. The Bible Society's project for providing an antidote to communism assumes the same belief—that reading the Bible makes people more thoughtful, less prone to violence, and more open to other good influences. Those who are given to discouragement over the state of the world may take heart from the fact that such a book is so widely distributed.

PORTRAYAL OF CALAMITY

The earth gets destroyed by an explosion of the sun, as the breath-taking climax of a show on the "stage" of the New York City Hayden Planetarium.

The world may end in this way, or some other equally gruesome. Some scientists foresee an ultimate cooling of the sun, and the death of the earth through freezing. Others prophesy our destruction through collision of this planet with a comet, or of the sun with some star from outer space. The forecast of the ancient Mayas of Central America may be right. Their astronomers predicted the end of the world in a vast flood, in which rain would sheet down from sun, moon and stars, while dreadfull gods with spears would stalk through the waters, slaying anyone who had managed to escape drowning.

Nobody knows whether any of these calamities will ever happen. The one consolation is that, for all we know, no such disaster will occur for millions, possibly billions of years.

CONSTRUCTIVE CURE

An unusual approach to the problem of graft and corruption in politics was outlined recently by Manuel Gallego, former secretary of public instruction in the Philippines and now called a roving ambassador in the Philippines.

After making a study of the causes of official irregularities, Gallego concludes that a desire for ease and luxury is at their root. He advises young men to avoid public office, as by so doing they will bring corrupt officials to a realization of the evil of their ways.

The Philippine emissary is doubtless right in naming the reason for corruption, but his idea for its cure is strange. Dishonest officials, far from mending their ways because of the lack of honest young men to take their places, would be more likely to rejoice at the lack of such competition. The way to clean up any corrupt political situation is to "overcome evil with good." One of the best places for young men of integrity who wish to help their country is in the political arena.

AT LAST A CONFESSION

The world do move. The governing committee of a Communist party acknowledges that serious errors and weaknesses have developed in the party's policy. This is the Bulgarian Communist Party, which admits miscalculation in the handling of agricultural surpluses.

Confessions like this have seldom been heard before, at least in public. For the record, Communist leaders are always perfect and infallible. It is refreshing to have them admit they are capable of blunders. Perhaps some day other Communists may come to this admission.

One of the most fascinating things about such modern inventions as television is the

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WRONG AGAIN

In an article in McCall's magazine, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has this to say:

"... The first (bonus) March, which had taken place in Mr. Hoover's administration, was still painfully fresh in everybody's mind. I shall never forget my feeling of horror when I realized that the army had actually been ordered to fire on the veterans. This one incident shows what fear can make people do. Mr. Hoover was a Quaker; and General MacArthur, his chief of staff, must have known how many veterans would resent the order and never forget it; he must have known too the effect it would have on public opinion. Yet they dared do nothing else in the face of a situation which frightened them."

Of course, Mrs. Roosevelt is careless of the facts. Just as in the Alger Hiss case, she attempted to twist the facts to make Whitaker Chambers the defendant, so in the matter of the bonus march, she repeats left-wing hearsay without investigating the truth.

As Ben Gitlow, who better than any American ought to know, proves in his book, "The Whole of Their Lives," the so-called bonus march was organized by a Russian Comintern representative in Washington who directed the expenditure of over $200,000 in bribing the members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and investigations of the FBI, confirm the Communist character of this demonstration.

There were veterans in the demonstration. They were offered their fare back home and some 6,000 accepted the offer. Of those who remained, several hundred were identified as ex-convicts and Communists. It was this group that staged the demonstration that led to rioting. When a riot occurs, it is the business of the police to maintain order, whether the riot is started by Communists or the Ku Klux Klan. In this particular riot, several police officers were injured, two being thrown to the ground and beaten.

The district commissioners quite rightly called upon the army for aid. Not a shot was fired and not a person hurt when the army took over. The Communists ran before a few tanks without munition and cavalry. That is the complete record.

Gitlow says:

"The C. I. (Communist International) representative in a Washington hotel room turned purple with rage. The plan to bring about in Washington a massacre of the bonus marchers as a result of provoked violent clashes with the authorities did not materialize. . . . The enraged C. I. representative called the Communist leaders together. He lashed out against them, charged them with being cowards and with deceiving the Comintern. The leaders, terror-stricken, admitted their mistakes and shortcomings. The Communist party leaders, having no further business in Washington, checked out of the fashionable hotels and left by Pullman train for home."

Mrs. Roosevelt has had ample opportunity to check the records. She apparently prefers hearsay. It is time to kill this canard about Herbert Hoover and the bonus march which the Communists organized for purposes of revolution and which Charlie Michelson developed as a political advantage. Today it is to develop advantage to continue spreading a false tale about one who is generally regarded as our leading citizen.

In this connection, it is interesting to call attention again to Helen Lombard's book, "While They Fought," in which she recounts the madness of Washington between 1941 and 1946 when to placate Soviet Russia, the Communists were given a free hand in the government. It was on May 7, 1944, that an order was issued within the War Department, of which Henry L. Stimson was secretary and Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary, to destroy the records of subversive persons. This modified an earlier order issued by General McNarney. Neither Secretary Hull nor Secretary Stimson seemed to know about this when on May 18, 1944, Senator Styles Bridges said that instructions had come from higher up.

Who was this "higher up"?

That Body of Yours

TREATMENT FOR DEPRESSION

When it was found that many patients suffering with deep depression were cured of their symptoms by undergoing insulin shock, it was a great step forward in the treatment of mental symptoms. Then followed metrazol shock which was found less dangerous than insulin as far as broken bones was concerned.

Finally came electroshock in which the patient is given an electric shock lasting a fraction of a second which not only gives better results but is not as much feared by the patient as is insulin shock and metrazol shock. In electric shock the patient has no memory of the shock, does not have to have injections into a vein, and is never conscious of what is happening to him.

In the natural enthusiasm of psychiatrists as to the great value of electric shock, Drs. Nathan S. Saks and William Karlner, New York City, in "Medical Clinics of North America" remind physicians that before the discovery of the shock treatment, more than half the patients in mental institutions were cured by the regular institution methods. They suggest, therefore, that psychiatrists make allowances for the many patients who would get better without shock treatment and not put patients through shock if they can be cured by other methods. In a series of 200 cases, these physicians gave shock treatment in their office to 180 (90 per cent).

One great advantage of giving patients electric shock treatment in the physician's office is that the patient and his family were quite willing to go to the physician's office where they would not go to a mental institution which they feel carries the stigma of insanity in the family. "The relatively low cost of office treatment and the availability of members of the patient's family for supervision are additional advantages." It has been found that patients receiving electroshock treatment in the office respond better than do patients in hospital.

In previous articles on shock treatment it was stated that where the patient or his family have a "say" in the kind of shock, they prefer, the great majority prefer electroshock treatments. In the above series, ninety-six (49 per cent) recovered with five or fewer treatments. Each of the 200 cases was given between 3 and 9 treatments. One case recovered after one electroshock treatment.

When we remember that these cases were not improving under the usual methods of treatment, we can understand why electroshock treatment is considered superior to any other known forms of treatment for depression.

The Seed That Returns a Hundredfold, They Hope

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearce

Washington—The private power lobby pulled skillful wires in the Senate Appropriations Committee last week and created a near short circuit in one of Mr. Truman's famous campaign promises. The effect was to switch public power over to the private utility companies in the west.

What the committee did was cut out appropriations for government transmission facilities and invite the private power companies to build them instead. This would stop public power from being transmitted to the public—except through the private companies at their own higher rates.

The committee voted so secretly behind closed doors that its action was scarcely noticed by the press. Yet the effect was to sabotage the entire Truman public-power program.

The man who really threw the switch in favor of the electric companies was Senator Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat. Thomas, who has not hesitated to use his prestige as a U. S. senator to influence the commodities market on which he is speculating, rallied enough Democratic votes to give the Republicans the voting majority.

The two senators who fought hardest to save public power were Carl Hayden of Arizona and Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. Democrats. They were joined on most votes by Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, Democrat, and Senator Mill Votaw of North Dakota, Republican.

Those who voted with Thomas for the big power companies were Senators Pat McCarran of Nevada and Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, Democrats, and Chan Gurney of South Dakota, Clyde Reed of Kansas and Guy Gordon of Oregon, Republicans.

Showdown Night Promised

The showdown fight will now take place in the conference between Senate and House appropriations members. The House has already voted against the private power companies and the man who is counted on to fight for the public interest is tough Congressman Mike Kirwan of Ohio. Though he hasn't a single power project in his district, Mike is always ready to roll up his sleeves and battle for public power.

Now the Lobby Worked

The Senate's sellout to the private power companies was the result of high-paid, high-pressure lobbying.

The Montana Power Company was an example. John Corbett, vice president of Montana Power, personally visited every member of the House and Senate Appropriations Committee. While he was exerting his charm in Washington, his company back home was publishing a propaganda book called "Public power means high taxes, socialism and less money for irrigation."

The Montana Chamber of Commerce even spread the lie that public power lines would rob Montana of power by transporting it to Idaho for an atomic energy plant. Released to the press by James F. Harty, president of the Montana Chamber of Commerce, this was categorically denied by Atomic Energy Chairman David L. Bland.

Montana is a long way from Iowa, but the Montana Power Company even influenced Rep. Ben Jensen, Iowa Republican. Arising on the House floor Jensen produced a map of Montana.

Congressman John Rooney, Brooklyn Democrat, interrupted suspiciously.

"I merely want to ask the gentleman who prepared this beautiful map?" sweetly inquired Rooney.

"Who does the gentleman suppose made it?" snapped Jensen.

"The Montana Power Company," promptly replied Rooney.

"Why, of course they did," blundered Jensen. "They are fighting for their lives. I am glad the gentleman asked."

Who Gets the Gravy

So skillful did the lobbyists operate that the Senate Appropriations Committee went to the unusual length of naming the individual power companies which they wanted to receive the lush bonanza of government financed power. Idaho Power Company was named to carry power from the Anderson Ranch Dam near Boise. Pacific Gas and Electric Company is to get the Shasta Dam facilities, supplying the rich California central valley. The Public Service Company of Colorado is to construct facilities for the big Thompson project.

The committee report stated that private companies should transmit power to government projects free of charge. This was not required in the law, however, and, in the past, the electric companies have flatly refused.

Note—During President Truman's barnstorming whistle-stop tour through the west, he repeatedly warned: "The power monopoly wants to own the transmission lines which carry the power from government dams to the users."

The monopoly wants the transmission lines so that it can charge what it likes for the power. The power companies want to take their cut out of the investment made by the government for the benefit of the people.

Truman blamed the G.O.P.-controlled 80th Congress for obeying "the orders of the power monopoly" and refusing "to provide the money for public transmission lines."

Now the Senate Appropriations Committee, controlled by Democrats, has gone a step farther. They stipulate that the transmission lines actually be built by the same "power monopoly."

Fact-Finding Board Could Have Important Effects on National Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 18—An important precedent that can have far-reaching effects on the labor-management problem in America could result from the operations of the fact-finding board appointed by President Truman to inquire into the dispute in the steel industry between the C.I.O. unions and the steel companies.

Reluctance to accept the plan was based wholly on the lack of faith on the part of the steel companies in the previous behavior of fact-finding boards which merely played the part of political auxiliaries to the administration.

If this fact-finding commission really examines the issues impartially and comes up with a settlement acceptable to both sides, such progress will have been made as to raise in Congress a question concerning the need for the much-discussed injunctions.

The steel companies said they would not have objected at all to a board of inquiry as such but they did not wish to see the proposed board make "recommendations." On its face this was a difficult position for the employers to justify because most people would say that any board which made an exhaustive study of the facts should at least express opinions.

The steel companies, however, did not fear a mere expression of opinion but wanted to make it clear that they had not bound themselves in advance to accept any or all conclusions of the board.

The delay and exchanges of telegrams served to underline that neither the unions nor the steel companies were bound legally or morally to accept the recommendations of the fact-finding board.

With the air cleared on this point, the problem faced by the board—which has 60 days in which to study and report on the dispute—is one that will be watched from one end of the country to the other by unions as well as employers.

First of all, the board is not studying merely the wage situation in the steel industry alone but whether any substantial increase—called a "fourth round"—will set off a spiral of inflationary increases everywhere else thus making impossible a reduction in prices so much desired by the country.

Second, the question of what the steel industry can afford based on 1948 profits or even the first half of 1949 is not related at all to what the industry can afford if steel demand in the next year or so is to be drastically curtailed. Many plants already are operating way below capacity after a period in which they have been working nearly 100 per cent.

The president's board of three members consists of two who are known to be strongly sympathetic with New Deal ideas. The general belief in Washington is that the C.I.O. Steelworkers Union knew in advance about the personnel of the board and the whole strategy and hence backed it immediately.

But the president's board cannot afford to make a partisan or one-sided report. If there is to be public confidence in fact-finding boards that make "recommendations," then a set of conclusions must be found which will appeal to both sides and actually avert a strike. Otherwise, at the end of the board's little while have been accomplished except to delay the strike by 60 days.

It certainly ought to be possible to settle the steel dispute without a strike but that might as well be said of the collective-bargaining process itself. Unfortunately, however, collective bargaining alone leads to situations that make it difficult for one side or the other to concede. Hence, a fact-finding board with public mandate "recommendations" sometimes acts as a face-saver for one side or the other and sometimes it makes a report not wholly satisfactory to either side but preferably as a last resort to a costly strike.

The "fact-finding" board is on trial and conceivably could set a precedent of constructive accomplishment which would have a lasting effect on the methods of settling labor disputes in major industries.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 17—Many rulings by Judge Samuel H. Kaufman in the Alger Hiss trial were favorable to the defense and to the Roosevelt myth. Whatever his reason, I would say he saved Felix Frankfurter from demolition when he curtailed the cross-examination of Old Weenie by Thomas F. Murphy for the government. Murphy thereby was forbidden to bring up the names of Communists and fellow-travelers in the government and put these people right in Weenie's lap.

For years, Frankfurter had been getting away with a clever little scheme to pacify the government of the United States with people of a mind and politics agreeable to his own. In fact, in this very court one of the few intelligent statements that could be dredged out of his evasive replies to Murphy was an unwise boast that he had been consulted by private and official employers far and wide on the selection of trustworthy help. Alger Hiss had been one of those, but you would have to define that because Felix did not say so flatly in his testimony.

Although Frankfurter brazenly rushed in, showing off as always, to give Hiss a good character, he stalled and fled in and, in total effect, was not clever but clumsy. There is no use of his pretending that his evasiveness was not intentional because he would readily admit that he is a man of superior intelligence and skillful in the use of language. When a man of such gifts resorts to double-talk and chews up masses of words he is hiding out.

An elderly magnate of our economy told me years ago that when he and Felix were serving in the Peace Conference in Paris at the close of the first war, Frank-ter remarked that a smart fellow with determination and energy could control the government of the United States by causing the appointment of individuals to key positions. I doubt that he would permit me to name him because his company already has been put through one extensive and expensive investigation and an anti-trust prosecution because of some resistance to the grafting rapacity of a member of the royal set early in the New Deal. But I call your attention again to the spotting of Frankfurter men in the government—Nathan Witt as secretary of the Labor Relations Board, the riot and the raids of the C.I.O.'s dragons on whole communities of men; Henry L. Stimson in the War Department and, now, Frankfurter's intimate friend and his mouthpiece of record, Dean Acheson, in the office of secretary of state, the department in which Hiss formerly served and where he is alleged to have filed secret papers for transmission to Russia through an "apparatus" of traitors and other spies. And, all the while, David K. Niles in the White House.

The deflation of this gas-bag has been one profitable result of this trial and Thomas F. Murphy deserves lions for the entire public service, the more so in view of the fact that he did it with two strikes on him and was not permitted to take Felix down the list of his appointees and proteges. Incidentally, Mr. Murphy's attack on Alger Hiss in his summation must have given him a personal dislike for Hiss and his professional pride of artistry because Hiss had digged him dirty by faulting his grammar during the cross-examination, and Murphy's neck had lit up like a neon

So They Say...

With the cold war dragging into its fourth year, we still lack any effective plan for the swiftest possible mobilization of our resources to insure reaching our allies in time.

—Bernard M. Baruch.

Several million people are now out of jobs. We cannot escape more economic distress and unemployment unless we halt our expenditures which the nation cannot afford.

—Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (R), of Massachusetts.

It is an admission by Congress that its members have not got the courage to cut appropriations. It is a complete abdication of congressional responsibility. It is pure legislative cowardice.

—Rep. John W. McCormack (D), of Massachusetts, commenting on a proposal to give the President authority to cut appropriations.

We hear a great deal about hysteria in the United States today. But hysteria here is not one-hundredth of what exists behind the Iron Curtain in Russia.

—George V. Allen, assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

I hope we have got through the so-called "cold war" and that we are entering a period that can be characterized as the period of the "cold peace."

CUSTARDS FINE FOR HOT WEATHER

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Chilled baked custards, with vegetable or meat broth used in place of milk, are ideal torrid day food. Baked in individual cups, chill and serve with cold cuts or cheese.

Try this recipe for an unusual custard:

To make enough broth-custard for 6 servings, use 3 cups of full-flavored meat or vegetable broth and 3 to 6 eggs. Beat the eggs, add salt, tabasco sauce, onion juice or celery salt, as desired. Add the hot broth to the eggs gradually, stirring constantly. Four the mixture into custard cups, place on a rack in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes until set. Chill in the refrigerator before turning out onto the cold plate.

Cheese custard is another unsweetened baked custard which makes an excellent main dish by itself and may be served either cold or hot.

Cheese Custard
(Serves 6)

Three cups milk; 1 tablespoon flour; 1/4 pound sharp-flavored cheese, shaved thin, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 5 drops tabasco sauce. Heat milk in a double boiler, keeping a half cup of the cold milk to mix with the flour. Stir the flour and milk mixture into the hot milk; add cheese and salt and stir until the cheese melts. Beat eggs slightly, pour the hot mixture into them, and add tabasco sauce.

Fill custard cups with the mixture. Place on a rack in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until set. Chill before turning out of cups. Good with sliced tomatoes.

The grade B eggs now especially plentiful on markets are suitable for use in either of these custards.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Melon, ready-to-eat cereal, French toast, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Bologna sandwiches, cream cheese and jelly sandwiches, radishes, scallions, peanut cookies, sliced bananas, tea, milk.

DINNER: Individual cheese custards, sliced tomatoes, water-cress, lima beans, carrots, onions and lettuce salad, French or oil-dressed, crisp rolls, chocolate devil's food cake, canned peaches, coffee, milk.

Woodstock, July 18.—Appearing in the Maverick Summer Theatre cast of "Return Engagement" opening Wednesday night, will be Dwight Carter who will portray the role of Geoffrey Armstrong. Wednesday's performance will begin at 8:44 p. m. The play will continue through Sunday, July 24.

"Return Engagement," a hilarious comedy by Lawrence Riley, author of "Personal Appearance," is the story of a typical straw hat theatre with all the bustling activity that goes on to get a show ready in a week's time.

Tom Reddy, manager of the Maverick Theatre, adds, "The play also portrays the resulting hindrances that help to fit institutions with mental patients."

Some of the hindrances mentioned are temperamental actors, backers with untalented children, new plays with authors at rehearsals, jealous actors, fleeing hours and mosquitoes.

The play will be directed by Bob Guest.

A FIANCE DOES NOT BUY
THE HOPE CHEST

A reader asks: What is this new idea of having the bridegroom-to-be buy his bride a Hope Chest? To me it is very shocking.

I agree with you. For generations the hope chest was the feature of a bride's trousseau and just the one thing the bridegroom was not permitted to see or even hear about. It was (and should still be) bought by the parents of a baby girl. Beginning in her childhood and all through her girlhood, members of her family stitched and embroidered linens of all sorts both for her personal trousseau and for her house, and all this was collected in the "hope" that she, at the proper time, would marry a suitable husband. The hope chest of today, which is often bought after the engagement, is certainly misnamed and should be called the wedding chest. Even so, the bridegroom should neither buy it nor contribute to its contents. If it happens that a fiance has a longing to buy a hope chest, let him look forward to the arrival of a baby daughter, at which time it will be completely proper to buy one for her—and one for each of any additional little daughters he may be blessed with.

Please Not Mercenary!

Dear Mrs. Post: What is your opinion of a shower invitation stipulating "greenbacks"? And another I received asked for a linen present or else $2. Don't you feel the money amounts should be left up to each individual?

Party Is Over!

Dear Mrs. Post: We are giving my daughter's wedding reception at a hotel. This particular room will be needed at a certain time for another reception. How can we get the guests to leave promptly? Usually they hang on and on! Answer: It is customary for most guests to leave when the bride and groom do, and surely none would stay on after the waiters begin clearing away.

Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-5, gives a list of trousseau clothes as well as a list of linen for the hope chest. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 15, N. Y. By BILLY ROSE.

On Broadway the other day before-midnight, I ran into a show girl who used to be one of the gaudier fixtures in my cabaret before she upped and married the cloak-and-suiter who was her suitor and cloaker. Cora—on Clarisse, as my press agent used to call her—was a picture—pretty as ever, except for a forehead which had enough wrinkles to hold a two-day tan.

"Husband trouble?" I asked. "Sort of," said the show girl. "Booze."

"Uh—yes and no. He had been taking plenty of sauce with his pretzels lately, but my real trouble is that he's a Giant fan."

"What's so disturbing about that?"

"You surprise me," said Clarisse. "The Giants haven't won a pennant since '37, and rooting for them is enough to make anybody neurotic."

"You're exaggerating."

"Think so? Well, early this year when the Giants were winning, all Nick drank was beer. Now that they're losing, it's Bronx boiler-makers—and you know what they are."

"It so happens I don't," I said. "Gin and bitters with an ale chaser," said Clarisse. "Do you remember the day the Giants blew a four-run lead and let the Dodgers win? Well, Nick tied on an awful can when that happened and an even worse one the next day when he won fifty bucks."

"What's wrong with fifty bucks?"

"Nothing's wrong with fifty bucks," said the show girl, "but there was plenty wrong with how he won it. As I got it from Nick, he was so down in the dumps the day after the Giants were trimmed that he went to a gin mill and had a few boiler-makers to ease the pain. And right after the fourth one, he noticed a little man on the stool next to him."

"Did the little man have ears like a rabbit?"

"As Nick tells it," said Clarisse, "the man was wearing a black frock coat and a black cowboy hat and he must have known what was on Nick's mind, because his first remark was, 'Stop brooding about yesterday's game. The final score was written in the stars.'"

"What have the stars got to do with it?" Nick asked him. "It wasn't even a night game."

"You jest, my boy," said the little man, "but I presume you know that the destinies of men and ball teams are decided in advance."

"I suppose you can tell me who does the deciding," said Nick, sarcastic-like.

"I can," said the man in the frock coat, "and I will." He lifted a finger heavenward. "Up above sits a committee composed of players, owners and even umpires of the past. The scores of each game are decided in advance, and posted. Then the members look down and chuckle at the puny efforts of mortal men to alter their decisions."

"Does that go for horse racing?" asked Nick.

"Certainly, but with jockeys and trainers presiding. Of course, they're not responsible for races which are fixed. Those—and here he jerked his thumb significantly downward—are arranged below."

"If that's the way it is," said Nick, "why doesn't the Baseball Committee do something for the Giants?"

"As I got it," said the little man, "there's a good chance that your team will win today's game. In fact, I'll go further and say right out that it will."

"Who are you?" asked Nick. "The man in the frock coat told him and, at the mention of his name, Nick went to the phone booth and bet forty-to-fifty the Giants would win. But when he got back to the bar the little man was gone."

"When did this all take place?" I asked.

"July 9th," said Clarisse. "Wasn't that the day the Giants beat the Dodgers 18-0?"

The show girl nodded. "You wouldn't happen to have the little man's name and phone number?" I asked. "I'd like to talk to him myself."

"If I remember right," said Clarisse, "his name is John J. McGraw, or something like that. But Nick says it's very hard to get in touch with him."

Parachutist Dies

Rutland, Vt., July 18 (AP)—George Beaudoin, 22, of Montpelier, plunged to his death yesterday when his parachute failed in a demonstration jump before more than 1,000 spectators. Rutland airport officials said Beaudoin's regulation parachute failed to open and that an emergency parachute did not open until he was about 10 feet from the ground. Beaudoin jumped from the wing of a plane flying at an altitude of 2,500 feet. The demonstration was arranged as part of a program featuring a model airplane contest at the airport.

Dewey Proposes Economic Unit for Western Europe

New York, July 18 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey urged today that western Europe be welded into an economic unit like the United States, and said Marshall Plan funds should be spent primarily toward that end.

The Republican governor, in an address of welcome prepared for the convention of Lions International, also said it is important that the United States Senate ratify the North Atlantic Treaty "with real enthusiasm."

"Otherwise," he said, "we would appear to be denying our inevitable and inescapable association with the cause of freedom. We would appear to be stating all over again down the same road we followed after World War I which led to World War 2."

Dewey said the United States should "strike while the iron is hot" in cementing the high regard in which this country now is held in non-Communist Europe.

Dewey told the delegates to the service organization's gathering that the U. S. should make certain that our aid to Europe is not used to promote "pet projects of socialism or nationalism."

The Governor declared, "If western Europe were made into one large area for the free exchange of goods and services like the United States, she could make the progress which would bring the living standards of her people above the danger point."

"Europe would at last be strong enough to stand on her own feet. This would make worth while all the sacrifices the Americans have made for European aid."

"But there are some individuals and nations in Europe which are resisting economic unity which I do not believe Europe can survive. Noting that the Lions meeting has delegates from 26 nations, Dewey said "this convention would be immensely valuable if it served no other purpose than to demonstrate on a grand scale how the nations of the world ought to work together in harmony for peace and progress."

Budget Approved For Ontario School

A school budget of $153,816 for the year 1949-50 was adopted during last week's meeting of the voters of the Ontario Central School District. Final vote on the adoption of the budget was 103 to 9.

James A. Simpson of Phoenixia, who presided at the meeting, also announced that state aid for the district would be about $43,000. Money to be raised by school tax will be $143,761.35. A balance of $8,054.85 as of July 1 also was reported.

Elections held during the meeting resulted in the re-election of Leonard Ford of Shandaken and Justus North, Shokan to the board of education. Both will be for three-year terms. Lauren R. Peters Sr., Lake Hill, was elected to the board for a three-year term to succeed Herman Carl, Lake Hill, who did not run for re-election.

Also discussed was the amount of money involved in the payment of architect's fees for preliminary drawings in reference to the purchase of a school bus to cost $7,500.

An open discussion period followed during which time several questions were asked concerning the progress of the new Ontario Central School building.

Voters of the district who did not attend the meeting may procure a copy of the estimated budget for 1949-50 by calling or writing to the board of education, Ontario Central School, Phoenixia.

sign on a gay saloon. Murphy had said "had ran" or something like that and Hiss, leily, had replied, "had run."

"Are you correcting me?" Murphy inquired. "No," Hiss said, "I am testifying."

To be sure, to sure, Frankfurter was not the defendant, was not on trial in this case. But are we so sure after all? He certainly did put his own character up for inspection when he presumed to stake the power of his name and the prestige of the Supreme Court, such as it may be after the vicissitudes and degradations of the Roosevelt years, on Hiss' case. And the curtailment of the examination test Felix be forced to admit relationships with Communists and persons merely questionable and the details still behind a rather transparent but substantial curtain. Many of us know what is behind the veil, but revelation of this stuff bit by bit is less convincing exposure of all of it at once in court would have been. So, although Murphy did take him down appreciably and send him away wilted Frankfurter survives.

A layman would resist the temptation to believe that Judge Kaufman was biased, whether consciously or no, but for the fact that so very many lawyers have given us ignoramus aid and comfort in our opinions. I do not recall any case in the past in which the lawyers did not put themselves on the side of the judge and the court and deplore the instinctive but erroneous judgments of the people. But in this case, many lawyers have spoken out in criticism of Judge Kaufman's rulings and one publication, the Lackawanna Journal, of Scranton, Pa., carries an editorial condemning Frankfurter's conduct as "inexcusably thoughtless or wanton disregard" of his exalted office. It gives Frankfurter and Justice Stanley Reed, who also left the bench and took the stand for Hiss, a terrible going-over and concludes with the observation that "this is clearly a case for condemnation and reprimand." (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Colonials Lose to Waterbury, 5-3, in McNamara's Debut as Manager

Ninth Inning Threat Fails; Home on Tuesday

Bridgeport Twin Bill Was Washed Out

The Colonials came within an eyelash of presenting Eddie McNamara with a victory in his debut as interim manager of the Kingston club Saturday night in Waterbury.

With the Colonials trailing 5-3, the bases loaded and a 3-2 pitch on third baseman, Mario Perez, Waterbury's third pitcher, Manager But Shepard induced Perez to pop up to end the contest.

Meanwhile, club president Ted Lavelle, who had been in the dugout, was cheering for the services of Emil Gall, former Bushwick and Port Chester catcher, as player-manager. Lavelle said he expected word late today and hoped to have Gall in uniform for Tuesday night's contest against the second place Bristol Owls.

Tellus Loser
Tellus Lavelle was tagged with the loss despite a 7-hit job done chiefly to a pair of unearned runs in the third inning when Danny Permuter and Allan Thomaier collided under a fly ball with the bases loaded.

The big Columbia righty had a two-hitter at the end of five innings but Waterbury collected five in the next three heats and added some fancy base running to score single markers in the sixth, seventh and eighth.

Shepard Steps Threat
Waterbury used three hurlers with Don Lewis getting the victory. Manager Shepard, the famous amputee, came on the scene when Dave Lewis walked three straight batters after two were out in the top of the ninth. Shepard stroled in to pitch to Perez, carried a pair of down to 3 and 2 and then, with everybody running, Perez popped out.

The Colonials picked up nine hits and five walks off the trio of Waterbury flingers but left eleven men stranded.

Permuter, Thomaier, Matzer and Elenchik each had a bunt or a blow. Thomaier's double was the only extra base hit for the Colonials.

Hamilton Graham is the probable starter against Bristol Tuesday night, although Manager Eddie McNamara may switch to Francisco Sostre who appears ready for a starting role after several effective relief performances. The boxscore:

Keller and Tator Rhinebeck Winners

Al Keller and Bob Tator won 25-lap features before the largest crowd ever to witness the stock car races Saturday night at the Rhinebeck Speedway.

A record field of 37 cars competed.

Keller won the first 25-lap feature, a reverse start from the semi-finals, despite the fact he started seventh. Trailing in order were George Landry, Al Garz, Johnny DuBois, Humbert Maggiasco and George Buley.

In the reverse start of the first feature, Bob Tator started in second place, moved into the lead early and held off a challenge by Bill Lovell. Keller, who started in 16th place, wound up seventh.

Each of the 37 cars got into action during the races and thrills were plentiful. Numerous spins took place and guard rails were bumped constantly. One car straddled and slid more than one hundred feet stop the guard rail before it stopped. Fans saw 20 cars start in the special event and before it was half over, most of the cars were strewn against the rail and on the infield.

LeFevre Speaks

In his speech, Congressman LeFevre pointed out the importance of electing Republicans to office, and, turning to the Ulster county party chairman, who is chairman of the G.O.P. in Ulster county said, "We might even elevate Art Wicks to a higher position."

Applause rang through the hall as the assemblage got his inference that the present Senate Majority Leader is in line for the gubernatorial nomination.

The congressman in his talk, printed in another section of The Freeman tonight, said, "I think it most fortunate that this convention comes shortly after the president made his mid-year economic report to Congress on Monday, July 11. Editorials following his message in Washington were headed along these lines: 'Harry sees the Light—Late,' but let us not be envious or befuddled in believing that the President has given up his fiscal program."

"If I can read between the lines, there is still the threat of the government going in business. They say this president or his part is better late than never and, therefore, we were all happy when the president finally admitted that we are in a period of 'deflation.'"

"Up until last Monday, however, the theme song at the White House has been—'that's the real menace.'"

"The Republican position has been, what every schoolboy could see, a recession was in course. The Republicans have been urging the elimination of tax deterrents in order to stabilize business and insure jobs and payrolls. Mr. Truman only acts after a fellow loses his job and payrolls are down. Up to very recently, the President has insisted on higher taxes, and this power to raise store rationing and price controls, and other police-state nuisances that we had during the war. We all remember them and we don't want them back. Now the President tries to bow out gracefully and say goodbye to all that."

"When Mr. Truman estimated our deficit for this year being between $750 million and $800 million, he surely was misinformed—he missed it by better than 50 per cent. Selling bonds to take care of deficit spending isn't going to be too easy either, especially during peace times. The money will have to be raised on the faith of the people in their government. When our government elects the easy course and shuns the desirability of expenditure retrenchment on many items that could be lopped off—faith weakens."

"I would like to make a little prediction and that is that next year this same administration will be for reducing the excise taxes and come forward with some other political bromides in order to line up a few more votes."

"Our people cannot afford the Truman spending spree. Today the average American family is paying more than $100 a month in Federal and local taxes."

"Lauding American liberty and freedom, Assemblyman John F. Wadlin said: 'To hear people talk you might think dictatorships were something new—actually they are as old as time itself. For thousands of years human beings have peopled the earth have lived as the slaves or subjects of someone else. The thing that is new and which is wrong and mine is freedom. Freedom to choose your job, to start in business knowing that in America there is no ceiling on advancement."

"Freedom to mass-produce more and better things, with lower costs reflected in consumer prices and higher real wages."

"We can go forward and improve our way of life as in the past we have constantly improved it. Let us be sure not to be deceived by malcontents who would have us substitute dictatorship for our freedom."

"Today the world is depending on us. Let us show others how well our freedom can work."

Kaufman Nominates Cashion

The first nomination for office was that of John M. Cashion of Kingston for county judge, an office he holds at present. Cashion is a childhood companion and schoolmate at old Kingston Academy and Cornell University proposed the name of Judge Cashion to succeed himself.

The former surrogate, after telling of his 30-year association with Judge Cashion, covered his career from the time he took office as county judge and stressed Cashion's ability to administer justice in cases where laws do not apply to fit situations.

"There are courts of law and courts of justice," Kaufman said. He added that Cashion had that extra something which enables him to handle any situation.

"Ulster could have had many distinguished judges," he pointed out, "but never has it had one better than Judge Cashion."

Attorney Kaufman in closing suggested that Judge Cashion be endorsed by the Democratic party for his efficiency in office.

"Whether they endorse him or not, we'll still respect him," was the commentary of Senator Wicks, chairman of the convention.

The nomination of Judge Cashion to succeed himself was seconded by Attorney George Rusk of Highland. Attorney Frank Campochiaro of Glasco and Attorney Benjamin Lonsky of Ellenville.

He was escorted to the rostrum by Attorney John Egan of Woodstock and Harold Titus of Wallkill.

Addressing the convention, Judge Cashion thanked the delegates for their confidence, displayed by their designation of him for another term in office, and assured that he would administer justice along the same lines mentioned by those who placed his name before the assemblage for renomination.

Referring to Senator Wicks, Judge Cashion said, "The Republican party is fortunate in having such a great leader, outstanding legislator and fine citizen. I am happy to serve in the ranks under him."

Bruhn Nominated Again

Leroy Lounsbury of the Town of Wawarsing said as a lawyer who served two terms as an assistant in the district attorney office he was familiar with the calibre of man headed for the position and placed in nomination the name of Louis G. Bruhn to succeed himself. He pointed to Bruhn's record and said he conducted his office with ability and efficiency.

Lounsbury was an assistant in the D. A.'s office under William D. Cunningham and Frederick G. Traver, two eminent prosecutors for the county.

The nomination of Bruhn was seconded by Attorneys David Corwin of New Paltz, Richard Overbaugh of Saugerties and Howard St. John of Kingston.

All of them referred to him as an efficient office administrator and pointed to his interest in civic affairs in the town of sports. Bruhn is president of the Kingston Athletic Association, which sponsors activities for the younger Kingston residents; past president of the Kingston Bowling Association and president of Witwick Golf Club. He is a member of several other organizations, including veterans' groups.

Bruhn was escorted to the stage by Julia Meyer of the 10th Ward and Ann Breth of the 13th Ward. Stated that he was grateful for the nomination to succeed himself. Bruhn said he would conduct the office of district attorney in the same manner as he had in the past, which had the approval of his sponsors.

Groves for Treasurer

Attorney N. Levan Haver nominated John T. Groves of Port Ewen for the office of county treasurer. He pointed to the need for a man capable of handling the important post efficiently in these days of added duties and said Groves could handle the post efficiently. He pointed to his fine record as a supervisor of the Town of Esopus for two terms, as second president of the Ulster County

Volunteer Fireman's Association and in the conduct of his own trucking business which he built up from a humble beginning. Groves, a veteran of World War I, has added strength to the Republic ticket in the past and is bound to show his weight in the November campaign, Haver predicted.

The nomination of Groves was seconded by Mrs. Mary Beaver of the Town of Esopus and Jacob H. Rogers of Saugerties, who withdrew as a candidate for county treasurer prior to the opening of the convention.

Candidate Groves was escorted to the speaker's platform by Vera Sickler of the Town of Ulster and Vincent Marano of the Town of Marlborough.

In his speech of acceptance he thanked the delegates for supporting him and said he intended to conduct a vigorous campaign and if elected to fill the office to the best of his ability.

Chipp Chosen Again

Arthur C. Chipp of the Town of Wawarsing was nominated to succeed himself for the position of coroner. His name was proposed by Attorney Leroy Lounsbury, who said he had served the public efficiently. There were no other nominations and he was escorted to the stage by Emory Jacobs of New Paltz and Edna Barringer of the Town of Rochester.

Chipp in his acceptance said he would continue to conduct the office in the same manner as he had in the past.

At the conclusion of the convention, candidates and delegates left for various restaurants where they dined and talked over plans for the November campaign.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy performed by Dr. Spottswood Taylor and members of his staff disclosed the dislocated neck, crushed spinal column, compound fracture of the right leg and other injuries which caused the death.

The accident was investigated by Coroner Chipp, who also notified the assistant district Attorney Vincent Connelly, Sergeant J. Bitoff and Trooper Thomas Maliga of the B.C.I. Troopers Malachuk and O'Hara of Wurtsboro and Sheriff George C. Smith and County Investigator Clayton V. Vredenburg. Pictures were taken at the scene of the accident.

There will be further investigation by the State Police, coroner, district attorney and until this investigation is concluded Coroner Chipp is withholding his verdict.

The accident happened about a half mile from the New Terrace Road just outside Ellenville on Route 208.

Blicker was employed as an apprentice printer by the Lincoln Engraving and Printing Company in New York.

The remains were taken in charge by the E. B. Humator Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, and on Sunday was sent to the Flatbush Memorial Chapel, Brooklyn. Burial will be in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery, Maspeth, L. I., on Tuesday.

O'Dwyer Opposed

for reelection as the Democratic candidate. The party leaders of the city's five boroughs have backed him.

The independent voters and labor group said it wants former Governor Herbert H. Lehman to run for U. S. senator on its ticket.

Lehman has been mentioned prominently as a running-mate for O'Dwyer on the Democratic ticket. Lehman has not committed himself.

Henry Modell, head of a sporting goods firm, is chairman of the proposed new party.

Democrats May Choose O'Neil

Francis J. O'Neil, who served the 13th ward as supervisor from 1940 through 1946, it is reported may be the candidate for mayor of the city on the Democratic ticket. However that designation in all probabilities will be contested at the Democratic convention Wednesday evening when the Democratic party will hold both its county and city convention at the court house.

Leo W. Clare of 184 Pine street, who has served the city as alderman, is reported to be actively engaged in a campaign for the nomination and today it was stated he intended to take the campaign into the convention. Clare has been an active contender for the nomination for several months.

James H. Betts, who has been active in Democratic politics for several years and held several offices, is reported to be in line for the position of alderman-at-large and Attorney Francis Martocci, who has served as assistant city judge, seems to be the logical candidate for city judge.

For some time it had been reported that former mayor William Edelmuth would again seek the nomination for mayor but several months ago when that matter was broached by a Freeman reporter, Mr. Edelmuth said he was "very happy" with his present position as sales manager for a local automobile concern.

Death was due to a crushed spinal column but there were also fractures and other injuries which probably would have been sufficient to cause death, Coroner Arthur C. Chipp said.

Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson was notified of the accident by the Levine-taxi service of Ellenville and an ambulance was sent to the scene but was not required.

Autopsy Performed

An autopsy performed by Dr. Spottswood Taylor and members of his staff disclosed the dislocated neck, crushed spinal column, compound fracture of the right leg and other injuries which caused the death.

have served in the councils of the nation—even of the United Nations. New York state laws pioneering in social welfare have set a standard for the nation. Well may the New York poet have had his own state in mind when he wrote:

"With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us,"

New York has been a battleground for Freedom in the wars between France and England in the War of Independence about a third of the battles were fought here, including Saratoga, the decisive conflict, that insured independence.

The Congress, sitting under the Articles of Confederation in New York city, passed the Northwest Ordinance, one of the greatest charters of freedom, and it brought the War for Independence to a successful close. New York's first Governor George Clinton, who had rendered such outstanding military service during the war, shared the honors with General Washington when New York city was evacuated by the British and reoccupied by the Americans. As first Governor of the State of New York, George Clinton gave the official welcome to our first President, George Washington, when he entered the City of New York for his inauguration. New York was at that time the Capital of the State and of the Nation. The first Congress, sitting here, gave the rights of the people were thus to be guaranteed protection from federal usurpation.

Each generation has carried the torch of freedom in New York. New York regiments have played a noble part in all of the wars of the Nation.

Liberal Tradition
Statesmen have striven to keep up the liberal tradition. Education has grown to meet more of the needs of "all the children of all the people," due in large part to the vision of Governor Alfred E. Smith—himself a product and promoter of Freedom. The great gains made in the anti-discrimination laws signed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey gave the opportunities for freedom.

In developing transportation—roads, canals, railroads, bridges—New York has served the Nation well. Immigrants came—100,000 in some years—and found employment. The West was settled. Interstate and foreign commerce grew—and New York played a leading role.

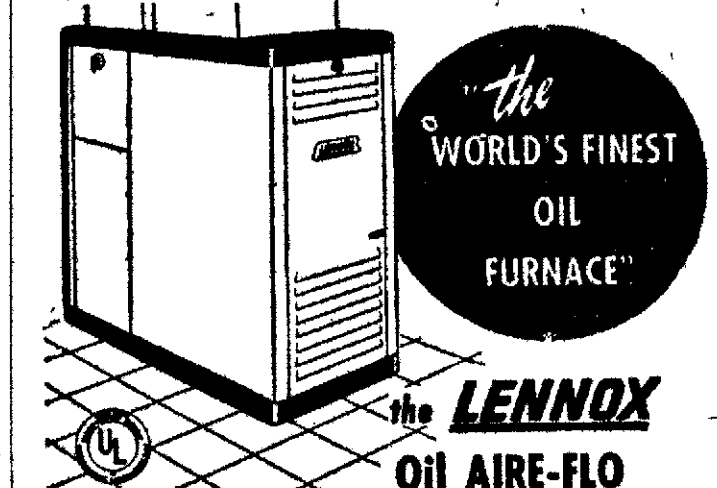

New York State has been a haven of refuge for seekers of freedom, and she in turn has been enriched by the contributions of those with whom she has shared her liberty. Freedom for freedom has been the great ferment which has made its rise and spread so

Called a War Monger

Luthyan Bishop Otto Dibellus (above) of Berlin was denounced as a war monger and an instrument of American aggression by the leading Communist newspaper in eastern Germany. A full page in Neues Deutschland was devoted to the attack on the bishop.

persistent On freedom's roster there are illustrious names of all types and classes and creeds and national origins, but then work could not have been so successful were it not for the appreciation and cooperation of the great numbers of people whose names are not known. No one is insignificant in a democracy. Every document in the Freedom Train is a record made possible through active participation of people who placed a high value on freedom.

ated they would be given "a full hearing."

Gray said the Senate group findings indicated that Feldman, who has been in charge of buying food, for all armed services and furniture, clothing and other equipment for the army, "furnished to a contractor's representative procurement information under circumstances which appear irregular."

The evidence concerning Walit, he added, indicates he "improperly furnished personnel data to an individual not in the military service and who was not entitled to receive such data."

Gray added that he was "not attempting to draw conclusions on the basis of an incomplete investigation" and did not disclose details of the Senate committee report to the inspector general.

Feldman, 57, a New Yorker, has been in the army since enlisting as a private 42 years ago. A field artilleryman in the first World War, he served as a supply officer in Washington, the European, North African and Pacific Theaters in the last war.

He was awarded the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct" twice.

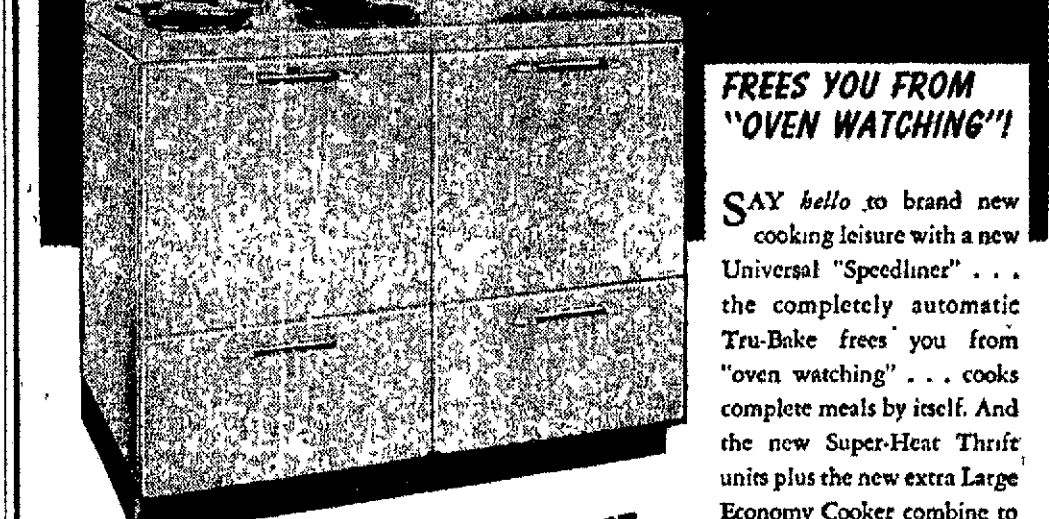

Walit, 56, has been in the army 26 years, becoming a chemical warfare specialist. His awards include the Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit and a commission of an honorary commander in the Order of the British Empire. He is from Medford, Mass.

man problem in which 'the Germans themselves, under four powers' supervision, would take the initiative in preparing a constitution and government for the whole of Germany.

"United States policy should have as its objective the political and economic unification and the neutralization of Germany. For the United States and the Soviet Union to continue the competition for Germany will almost certainly lead to disaster."

The U. S. should reaffirm its faith in the United Nations and "support moves to strengthen the mediation and conciliation functions of the United Nations."

The U. S. should promote effective international control of armaments and atomic energy" by among other things "proposing an agreement to put present stocks of atomic weapons under United Nations seal and to halt the concentration of fissionable material."

The committee said there is a widespread world desire for peace and concluded:

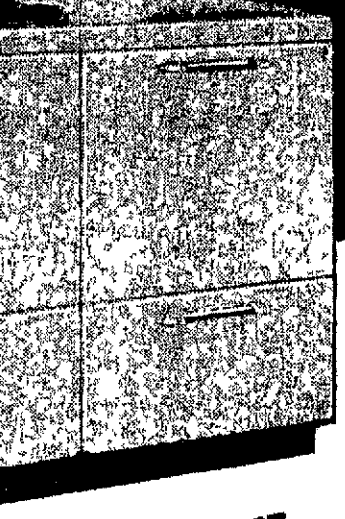

"The evidence does not justify the conclusion that either the United States or the Soviet Union intends, at the present time in the foreseeable future, to promote its foreign policy by military aggression."

Car Didn't Stop
Gerard Joseph Matthews, 89, Hone shot, reported to the police at 5:20 p. m. Sunday that while he was driving south on Broadway near Stuyvesant street, a car which had pulled over the white line struck his auto and went on without stopping. Paul Elsher, 2, of 35 Ponckhockie street, suffered a bruised forehead, the report said. Police checked on a license number given by Matthews, and an investigation indicated the auto is owned by a New York woman.

Potato Crop Hit Hard by Drouth

Albany, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—The spring and summer drouth helped cut Long Island potato production by more than one-third and the upstate crop by nearly one-third.

The State Agriculture Department also reported yesterday that the unusual dry spell in May and June had hurt green peas, snap beans, dry field beans, tomatoes, hay barley and oats.

The department said the indicated potato crop on Long Island, as of July 1, was 10,400,000 bushels. This compared with 18,800,000 bushels last year.

Upstate, the indicated yield was 13,875,000 bushels, compared with 19,125,000 in 1948, the department reported.

The crop report on yield to July 1 also showed:

The 19,400 acres of canning tomatoes planted this year was 20 per cent less than in 1948.

The estimated hay crop of 4,708,000 tons was down 25 per cent from last year's.

Green peas grown for canning and freezing amounted to 14,800 tons compared to 29,580 a year ago.

The snap bean crop was down eight per cent, to 32,800 tons.

Despite a 13 per cent increase in acreage, the oats crop of 22,400,000 bushels was under last year's 25,320,000.

The dry field bean yield of 1.3c per bushel, or 32,800 tons, was under the 2,176,000 bags produced in 1948.

Down also was the barley crop from 2,762,000 bushels to 1,800,000.

The department reported only a one per cent drop in corn for grain, silage and fodder.

Most spiders have eight eyes, arranged in rows across the front of the head.
